

Keystra — Cookie policy

Language: English Version: none — no separate version number is tracked for this text Status: No Dutch version exists yet. There is no dedicated "cookie policy" page on the site today — this document compiles the cookie-related text that does exist: the consent banner, and the cookie preferences page. It does not yet list individual cookies, their purpose, or their retention period, which a full cookie policy would normally need.

Consent banner (shown on first visit)

We only use cookies that are necessary to run the shop, unless you agree to more below.

Buttons offered: Reject / Accept — both the same size and style, so rejecting is exactly as easy as accepting.

Cookie preferences page (reachable any time via the footer)

Change your mind any time. Withdrawing consent is exactly as easy as giving it.

Current status is shown as one of: "Accepted — non-essential cookies allowed", "Rejected — only necessary cookies", or "Not yet set".

Buttons offered: Accept non-essential cookies / Reject non-essential cookies.

What is not yet written

No analytics or other optional script currently exists anywhere on the site. When one is added, it must be gated behind an accepted cookie choice — never loaded unconditionally. A full cookie policy (naming each cookie, its purpose, and how long it's kept) still needs to be written once there is something concrete to list.